

UNCLE JOE CANNON
APOSTLE OF TODAY
Wants City Planning, But Insists Plans Be Carried Out Now.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is the apostle of today as opposed to next week or the year after next. He believes in doing things for the present generation and with letting theories as to how pos- sibly will live and have its being cov- ered by posterity. But he favors city planning, planning for now, for the people who are living in the cities. He told the delegates to the city planning conference last evening at the Raleigh Hotel that he heartily approved of their efforts if they would get to work and do something.

These things and his views on a wide variety of other subjects he confided to the diners whose principal speaker and entertainer he was on a program that included addresses by Commissioner Macfarland, Mrs. Vladimir G. Simk- hovitz, of New York; Henry Morgen- thau, of New York; Benjamin C. Marsh, of New York; Mayor James E. Reburn, of Philadelphia, and Allen D. Albert, Jr.

The dinner was served in the large banquet hall, the walls of which were covered with plans, maps, and pictures showing how cities should and should not be. Europe contributed several hundred specimens to the collection, and the plans of the park commission oc- cupied a prominent place.

Mr. Cannon was on the program to talk on legislation and its relation to city planning. He warned the theorists to be careful and declared the country had a recent example of theorists and their work in the report of the commis- sion to uplift the farmers. "The work of this commission is all right," he said, "if the samples of the literature it has sent out which has fallen into my hands can be taken as real specimens of the work." The gentlemen who composed the commission were very learned men, but they didn't know a thing about the farmer or his needs, he said.

The speaker paid a tribute to Tam- many Hall by saying that he believed if he lived in New York he would belong to the organization. He said he couldn't be elected constable if he didn't.

The members of the conference have met with so much encouragement that they have planned to hold an annual meeting.

The exhibit at the Raleigh will be open until next Saturday and Benjamin C. Marsh will be on hand at all times to explain the drawings and tell something of the work that has been done in New York. He has been engaged to make several addresses on city planning dur- ing the course of the next week or ten days.

NO TRACES FOUND
OF PICKPOCKETS
Fail to Locate Man Who Robbed
Cashier of $1,129 While Boarding Car.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 23.—No trace is obtainable today of the four men, who, while going aboard a Bloom- ington avenue street car in front of the Security Bank building in Minneapolis, robbed C. C. Reynolds, cashier of the Housekeeper Publishing Company of the Mill City, of $1,129.

Reynolds had just drawn the money in currency and it was in a small can- vas bag in the inside pocket of his coat. While entering the car, the four men crowded about him. He had not walked more than a few steps into the car before he realized what had hap- pened, and he ordered the conductor to stop the car. He was too late. The pickpockets did not get on the car, and by the time he reached his starting point no one was in sight.

FAVOR CHANGING
INAUGURAL DATE

The California State Association, of Washington, is the latest organization to join the list of those favoring and agitating a change in the inaugural date. The association met at the Ebbitt House last evening, and elected officers as follows: M. F. O'Donoghue, pres- ident; Riggs Nathan, first vice president; Mrs. Marie U. Smith, second vice pres- ident; Charles W. Otis, secretary; C. T. Vogel, treasurer, and M. J. Boyer, his- torian.

DIVORCES HIS WIFE;
CHANGES HIS NAME

Edward J. Livernash, of Nevada, Becomes Edward J. Denivernais, Cuts Loose From Family and As- sumes a New Occupation.

RENO, Nev., May 23.—Through the operation of the law in which he him- self achieved no mean prominence, Ed- ward J. Livernash, former California Congressman, political factor, lawyer, journalist, litterateur, and head of a prominent family, today cut the bonds that held him to his past life and en- vironment, to his wife and family, as- sociates, avocations, home—even his name he changed.

A decree of divorce from his wife, Jesse Livernash, followed by a court order from the same judge, which restored to the man his ancestral name of Denivernais, was the medium through which a greater change was wrought in this man's life than perhaps has ever been effected in the case of troubled mortal since law was invoked in the West.

From a prominent lawyer and politician in California known as Edward J. Livernash by thousands, there comes Edward J. Denivernais, single, mining man and promoter, writer, of Rhynolite, Nev. Bowed under the blows of fate, Livernash has been content to drop everything that held him to the world that he made around him, and to take up a new life, with new surroundings, and a new vocation under a new, yet old, name, to begin again the problem of life. There was no hint of scandal in any part of the testimony at the di- vorce trial. Afterward his counsel called up the petition of the same man to have his name changed from Edward J. Livernash to Edward J. Denivernais. Livernash in that petition set forth that Denivernais was his paternal name. His great-grandfather, he said, had that name in France, but through care- lessness it was corrupted in America to Livernash, and later to Livernash.

HOLD MEMORIAL FOR "EDDIE" COYLE

Baltimore Journalists Club
Pays Tribute to Newspaper
Correspondent's Memory.

Memorial services for "Eddie" Coyle, Washington correspondent of the De- troit Free Press and the Grand Rapids Herald, are being held this afternoon by the Journalists' Club in Baltimore, and a number of Washington newspa- persmen went over to take part. A poem by Folger McKinsey, "One of the Clan," was read at the meeting.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. Coyle's sister, Mrs. Herbert E. Martyn, 632 East Capitol street. The bearers will be three Baltimore news- papersmen selected by the Journalists' Club, of that city, and Maurice Spalin, Harris M. Crist, James P. Hornaday and John Shriver of the Washington correspondents.

The following resolutions have been adopted by his associates:

"The members of the press gal- leries of the Senate and House of Repre- sentatives are called together to ex- press formally the sorrow which each individual feels as deeply at the death of one of their best beloved associates—Edward E. Coyle.

"Few men have lived lives of such infinite kindness as 'Eddie' Coyle. Few men, dying, leave behind them such sweet memories. Mr. Coyle died after thirty-five years of a lovable life, every minute of which now rises as a monu- ment to his memory. His mission in life seemed to be to make others hap- pier. His wit was inimitable. Neither sorrow nor adversity dampened it. A year ago he suffered as few men have suffered, but with his unflinching courage and sunny disposition he triumphed over the death which nearly overtook him. His end at this time, unexpected and so sudden as to be almost be- yond understanding, is one of the cruel- est blows ever dealt the newspaper workers of Washington.

"We extend our deep sympathy to his relatives.

"It is here ordered by the corps of correspondents in special session as- sembled that this expression of our af- fection for him and regret at his death be communicated to his relatives."

RECEPTION AWAITS
FAIRBANKS' COMING

TOKYO, May 23.—Japan lost one dis- tinguished foreigner and gained another today, with the departure for London of the British ambassador, Sir Claude M. MacDonald, and the arrival of former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks from San Francisco. Sir Claude left for home by way of Siberia on a six months' leave of absence.

Mr. Fairbanks, who arrived today, will be received in audience by the Em- peror. Later he will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by Premier Marquis Katsura.

MEMORIAL SERVICE
HELD FOR RED MEN

Sermon and Special Music
Planned for Exercises
This Evening.

Memorial services for the members who have died during the past year will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Congress Street M. P. Church by the Improved Order of Red Men of the District. The Rev. E. D. Stone, pastor, will deliver the sermon, and Otto H. Fischer, great sachem of the District, will make the special memorial address. Music, including singing by a quartet, will be given by Mrs. James Crosson, Miss Nannie Wheatley, H. Clyde Grimes, and James Crosson.

The thirty-fourth annual commence- ment of Lathicum Institute will be held Wednesday evening at Lathicum Hall, 316 O street. The program will open with a selection by Prof. H. C. Theurer, followed by the invocation by the Rev. James T. Marshall, D. D., pastor of the West Street Presbyterian Church.

Prizes will be awarded by Henry S. Matthews, of the board of trustees of the institution, and benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Marshall.

Mrs. Charles McCartney and son Richard, and Miss Mary Cragin, of Dumbarton avenue, are spending a few weeks at Atlantic City.

A lawn fete for the benefit of the West Street Presbyterian Sunday School will be given June 8, 9, 10, on the lawn of the Darnelle home, 1827 Thirty-first street. The fete will open each evening at 6 o'clock and an attractive program has been arranged.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Georgetown will meet at the home of Mrs. Zed H. Copp, 1675 Wisconsin avenue, Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Rev. W. E. McBath will occupy the pulpit at the West Street Presby- terian Church, this evening at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "Missionary Work in Guatemala."

The receipts from the entertainment held recently by the teachers and pupils of the Curtis School, for the benefit of the playgrounds of the school, amounted to more than $100.

TEACHERS REGRET
CLEMENTS' LEAVING

At a meeting of the teachers of the public schools of Alexandria county, called to take action respecting the re- tirement of Superintendent James I. Clements, much regret was expressed and resolutions were adopted express- ing the high esteem in which Mr. Clem- ents was held by his fellow-teachers.

The retiring superintendent has occu- pied this position for the past fifteen years, and the progress of the schools has been marked. New buildings have been constructed throughout the coun- ty; the course of study has been en- riched and enlarged through his efforts.

"ASH" NEWELL'S WIFE
WEDS DR. A. C. KLEBS

Chicago Society Woman Marries Again Within a Month After Her Divorce—Is on the Way to Europe for the Honeymoon.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Mrs. Harriet K. Newell, who a month ago obtained a divorce from "Ash" Newell, railroad official and son of the late president of the Lake Shore railroad, has been mar- ried in New Bedford, Conn., to Dr. Arnold C. Klebs, a well-known Chicago physician and society man.

Following the wedding, Dr. and Mrs. Klebs embarked at New York on the steamer Lombard upon a honeymoon which is to include a summer tour of Europe. The wedding ceremony was performed at the home of a sister of Dr. Klebs' first wife, now deceased.

Announcement of the nuptials in Con- necticut reached Chicago friends of the bride and groom today.

Following the granting of the divorce by Judge Mack, Mrs. Newell left the city with her three children, and it was announced she had gone to Pass Chris- tiana, Miss., where she would remain for several weeks.

After her divorce from Ashbel Newell, it was understood she would return to Chicago to open for the summer season her home at 159 Rush street, the prop- erty which formerly belonged to her father, the late Charles B. King.

The divorce from the railroad man was granted on April 25. Mrs. Newell came to Chicago from Pass Christian, arrangements for the hearing having been made before hand. Every effort was made to avoid publicity. Mrs. Newell appeared in court with her at- torney, but Mr. Newell was represented only by his counsel.

Dr. Klebs has recently been active in advocating a tuberculosis hospital and declares that the white plague cannot be stamped out in Chicago until a san- itarium capable of caring for 300 pa- tients at a time has been established.
